

How do I set Twilio to automatically charge my credit card when I need more texting credit?

Last Modified on 12/04/2018 2:11 pm EST

Log into your Twilio account from the link provided in your Jackrabbit database on the Text Messages screen from Tools > Edit Settings. Once in Twilio, click Billing and then Enable Auto-Recharge.

The screenshot displays the Twilio Billing Overview page. On the left, a navigation menu includes 'Dashboard', 'Billing' (highlighted with a yellow box), 'Overview', 'Payment History', 'Recurring Items', 'Payment Methods', 'Pricing', 'Usage', and 'Settings'. The main content area is titled 'Billing Overview' and is divided into two columns. The left column, 'Current Balance', shows a balance of $19.89 remaining in the account and a warning that the account will be disabled at $0.00, with an 'Add Funds' button below. The right column, 'Auto Recharge', shows the feature is 'DISABLED' and includes the text 'Enable to have your account automatically funded.' with an 'Enable Auto-Recharge' button highlighted by a red box and a hand cursor icon.

Current Balance	Auto Recharge
$19.89 remaining in your account	DISABLED
We'll disable your account at $0.00	Enable to have your account automatically funded.
Add Funds	Enable Auto-Recharge